

Gifts and Hospitality Policy

Principle

Thalia Waste Management believes that conducting its business to high ethical standards, thereby maintaining public confidence in the integrity and corporate legitimacy of its operations, is essential for its long-term success and growth. We also believe that it is essential to conduct our operations in a transparent manner, in full compliance with the law and to ensure that our employees, business partners, suppliers and customers operate in a corruption-free environment.

Gifts from suppliers, customers or partners may give an appearance of dishonest or unfair dealings. We do not permit or condone acts which amount to bribery or which attempt to illegally influence another person's or your own behaviour.

This policy does not prohibit providing or receiving gifts and hospitality if such gifts and hospitality are provided and received in compliance with this policy.

Within this policy the term 'Gifts and Hospitality' includes tangible and intangible gifts of any kind including (but not exclusively): payment, services, accommodation, invitations to restaurants, tickets, events, travel expenses, discounts for personal purchases or any other kind of gift or favour.

Thalia Waste Management operates a ZERO -Tolerance approach to any breach of this policy.

Coverage

This policy applies to all individuals working at all levels and grades, including (but not limited to) senior managers, officers, directors, employees (whether permanent, fixed-term or temporary), consultants, contractors, trainees, seconded staff, casual workers and agency staff, volunteers, interns, agents, sponsors or any other person associated with Thalia Waste Management (collectively referred to as "employees" in this policy).

The policy also applies to the employees of any entity where Thalia Waste Management has control, being any entity where we have a majority vote on the Board of Directors or other administrative body as applicable.

All employees are also subject to industry standards and the laws of the countries in which they work. Any such industry standard or local law that is more stringent will take precedence over the provisions herein.

This policy shall also apply to our advisers and agents and any subcontractors or suppliers we use and we expect that they will adopt and maintain appropriate controls and take the steps necessary to comply with the spirit of this policy.

Your Responsibilities

It is the responsibility of each employee to read, understand and comply with this policy and to ensure that their close relatives do not solicit gifts or hospitality from clients, suppliers or partners. Ignorance of this policy does not excuse non-compliance.

Any person who breaches this policy will face disciplinary action that could result in dismissal for gross misconduct. Any suppliers, agents, advisers and business partners who breach this policy may, among others, have their contracts terminated.

Thalia Waste Management reserves the right to report any breaches of this policy which may amount to bribery and corruption to the relevant police authority for investigation and, if appropriate, prosecution.

We encourage the early reporting of concerns or suspicions of behaviour that may be in breach of this policy. Concerns should be raised with People Manager(s) (if appropriate) or by reporting it to the Whistleblowing Helpline 0800 047 4037.

People Managers are required to ensure compliance with the policy and to monitor and review the activities of their reports. Any suspicious activity must be reported to a senior manager (if appropriate) or by following the procedure set out in the Whistleblowing Policy.

It is not acceptable to:

- a) give, promise to give, or offer, a payment, gift or hospitality with the expectation or hope that a business advantage will be received, or to reward a business advantage already given;
- b) give, promise to give, or offer, a payment, gift or hospitality to a government official, agent or representative to "facilitate" or expedite a routine procedure;

- f) threaten or retaliate against another worker who has refused to be complicit in activities in breach of this policy; or
- g) engage in any activity that might lead to a breach of this policy.

When an employee maintains a personal relationship with customers, suppliers or vendors of Thalia Waste Management, they may not obtain discounts or more favourable conditions for themselves, spouse, unmarried partner or relative in respect of any purchase or service provided, than those offered to other employees.

Acceptable Gifts and Hospitality

This policy does not prohibit normal and appropriate hospitality (given and received) to or from third parties. The giving or receipt of gifts and hospitality is not prohibited if in all the circumstances, the gift or hospitality given or received is reasonable and justified and, if the following requirements are all met:

- a) it is not made or accepted with the intention of influencing a third party to obtain or retain business or a business advantage, or to reward the provision or retention of business or a business advantage, or in explicit or implicit exchange for favours or benefits;
- b) it complies with local law;
- c) it is given or received in the name of and on behalf of Thalia Waste Management;
- d) it is for an identifiable and legitimate business purpose;
- e) it does not include cash or a cash equivalent (such as gift certificates or vouchers);
- f) it is appropriate in the circumstances;
- g) taking into account the reason for the gift or hospitality, it is of an appropriate type and value and given or received at an appropriate time;
- h) it is given or received openly, not secretly; and
- i) it does not expose Thalia Waste Management to civil or criminal liability.

If there is any doubt as to the appropriateness of a gift or hospitality, employees should consult their people manager and the Thalia Waste Management General Counsel in writing, who will respond also in writing.
